

F-16 FLYING COLORS

These emblems represent an elite group — forces that proudly fly the Lockheed Martin F-16 Fighting Falcon. As you can see by this collection, current membership consists of over 150 squadrons in wings located around the world. The F-16 builds this worldwide presence because it is the world's premiere fighter, combining raw performance in a survivable, lethal, and affordable package. And it continues this presence by evolving to the latest technologies in sensors, displays, and weapons. The evolution, no doubt, will generate more patches to be worn by future members of the F-16 community. As this community grows, it will continue to be served by a company represented by another emblem, the star of Lockheed Martin.
